He said, however, he was not giving an official position on urban policy, which he said was an evolving sort of thing, not a hardened document.

Nixon himself told a Chicago audience Thursday it is time to return power from the federal government to the grass roots. The most significant idea seen in the administration's thinking is the clear abandonment of the Democrats' strategy of massive uplift and rebuilding for urban ghettos.

Gone too is the prospect of large federal outlays for urban renewal and model cities—the concentrated slum rebuilding program.

The growth of existing renewal projects has been curtailed by administrative action. And President Nixon wants new renewal outlays held at the $1 billion level.

Model cities spending-projected by the Democrats to reach $1 billion this year-will be half that.

Instead, the Republicans intend to reduce slum pressures by opening access to suburban housing and jobs.

By RICHARD P. POWERS Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen Caylord Nelson introduced a bill today to outlaw eight long-lived insecticides, including one pest killer that has been called deadlier than DDT.

The eight insecticides are members of the family of chloriover a $19.7billion health-educanated hydrocarbons. All are first cousins of DDT.

The step marked the first time that sweeping legislation to ban the widespread application of persistent pesticides have been introduced in Congress. "The long-term toxicity of chlorinated hydrocarbon pesticides presents a deadly threat to fish, wildlife and the over-all quality of our environment," declared the Wisconsin Democrat. Nelson's legislative package

Nelson, a leading Senate advocate of stricter controls on environmental poisons, also slapped the Department of Agriculture in detailing his legislative package.

Noting the Agriculture Department late last year announced plans to outlaw DDT by the end of 1970, Nelson said the department played into industry's hands by failing to invoke its statute authority to suspend certain uses of the controversial insecticide before initiating cancellation procedures.

"If the department is serious about protecting the quality of our environment from pesticide polsoning, it should move without further delay and immediately suspend all nonessential uses of DDT," he said.

Appeals initiated by the pesticide industry could delay final Agriculture Department action to ban all nonessential uses of DDT for years, he charged.

At the time the Agriculture Department called for an almost total ban on DDT, it said it would review other insecticides before limiting their use. The first series of reviews is scheduled to begin this spring.

WIN AT ERIDOR When Both Play Trumps--- Ouch!

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South looked at the dum- Bobo flome my and the trump lead. The dummy was all right but he didn't approve of the trump Feb. 10 lead. Then he remarked, "If Gilbey Home I want trumps led, I'll lead Rose Home them myself," and proceeded to play two more Battlefield Loop ceeded to play two more rounds of trumps.

Then he cashed his king of Spring Rill clubs, led another trump and Hackler Home continued with a low dia- williams Home mond to dummy's nine. East won and led a spade. South took the ace, led a second Patmos diamond to dummy's ace, patinos School discarded a spade on the ace of clubs and played dummy's last diamond.

If diamonds had broken 3-3 Bodcaw or if East had discarded a Williams Home diamond on the third or Sherman Home fourth round of trumps, South would have made his four diamonds and hung on Fore Home to all of them so South failed to make his game.

South blamed North for not bidding three no-trump Feb. 12 which would have been a laydown. Then he blamed West for opening a trump, East for hanging onto all his diamonds and the gods of chance for never giving him

Actually the only person really to blame was himself. South should have realized Woodruff Home that when both sides play Blavins trumps one is sure to be wrong. He should have taken his king of clubs at trick two, led a diamond to dummy's at trick four and led a second diamond at trick five. Either opponent could win and play a second trump, whereupon South would play a third diamond. East would win that and be unable to lead a third trump so South in Hope, announced that arrangewould get to ruff his fourth ments have been made for their diamond for the 10th trick. This line of play gave the extra chance that the same player would not hold both the long diamonds and the long trumps.

By HARRY KING Associated Press Writer DALLAS, Tex. (AP) - Make room Hollywood. Here comes Raymond Beiry.

Barry, former all - pro end with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, is directing and starring in a can'tmiss film. Philadelphia vs. San Francis-

It's rated "F" for football audiences.

Berry will complete the bulk Milwaukee at Baltimore, aftof the flim before reporting in mid-March to the University of Cincinnat at Boston, afternoon Arkansas where he has been Alanta at Chicago, afternoon also completion of Nov. 6 sushired to coach the Razorback

Berry said in a telephone interview that the film or films. as the case may be, will cover two subjects - catching the football and faking,

'It will include examples from actual game films and practice situations," he said. "It covers the moves learned as a pro."

"There are certain things I learned about catching the ball over a career," he said. "I discovered certain types of catches when I dropped passes."

Berry says the reels will run about 12 minutes and that there may be as many as a half-dozen. The market he says, is unlimited. "Catching the football is basic to any type of football," he said. "At any level there is a market for such a product.

"There has been such a trend to the passing game in college and on into high schools," he said, "and even into intramural and fraternity football. I watched intramural football at two coileges, the whole thing is applicable right there.

'Any boy who is a pass receiver likes to learn new tricks on how to get open," he said. "That's the fun thing."

Berry said sequences from game films will include only his experiences.

Why Double-Crossing Justices of Today's Alex. N. Washburt U.S. Supreme Court Need a Few New Faces

hat you are witnessing in the battle of Senate radicals to block confirmation of any conservative nominee to the U.S. Supreme Court isn't what the Senators say it is- a question of the nominee's ethics-but rather an attempt by radicals to win in the Senate the war that they lost when the nation elected Richard Nixon President in November 1968.

The Senate rejected the nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr., and now is quibbling over the replacement nominee, G. Harold Carswell.

Both are Southern conservatives, with distinguished records in the federal judiciary.

Minor faults they may have—as what living mortal does not?-but in its purposeful campaign to bar all conservatives from the Supreme Court the Senate is defying the express will of the American people.

The conduct of the radically-loaded Supreme Court over the last decade was a major issue in the 1968 presidential election, and the nation expressed its intent to change court personnel and policy when it elected Mr. Nixon, a conservative.

One of the oldest traditions of our republic is that "The court follows the election returns."

But that's what the Senate is attempting to block, The Supreme Court needs new faces and a more balanced temperament-more law-abiding justices, fewer men of arbitrary and violent disposition.

Here I am not thinking so much about the publicized quarrels which divide our races but a single outrageous decision which wronged all Americans, whatever their color or creed.

On Dec. 21, 1961, the Supreme Court handed down a decision destroying the secrecy of information that citizens give the Bureau of the Census.

Here are the facts: The Federal Trade Commission, backing an anti-trust action that the Justice Department was planning against a private business house, called on the Director of the Census Bureau to disclose the confidential census

The Increase over December from 3,5 per cent to 3,9 per cent,-WASHINGTON (AP)-A vote per cent and the 3,9 per cent is near on an amendment that rate was the highest since No-

Not only did the jobless tate. jump to 3,9 per cent with a total projects from a $35 billion edu- of 3.4 million unemployed workers, the Labor Department said today, but the aperage work: week dropped and overtime for contention between Congress manufacturing workers fell to its lowest level in two and a halfyears.

The department said the total: unemployment increase fir Jan uary over December was even greater than the usual December-Jamary change. In all, unemployment was up 325,000 over the month, with most of the increase accounted for by teen-agers and adult men.

The 3.9 per cent increase was four-tenths of one per cent above the seasonally adjusted December rate of 3.5 and slightly above the revised Septem. ber-October level of 3.8 per.

The department said jobless rates for most major groups of the labor force rose significantly over the month, although to-tal employment declined less than usual.

- Ralen reported a rise is the Title "lasured - the rate to its highest level since 1967.

For workers between 16 and 19 years old, the jobless rate rose 2 per cent over the month, up to 13.8. For men 20 years and older, the unemployment rate rose from 2.2 to 2.5 per cent, the highest level since mid-1967.

The work week for rank and file workers declined by a half hour in January, which the government said was in line with seasonal expectations. In manufacturing, it dropped much more than seasonally and was down four-tenths of an hour over the month to 40,2 the lowest level in about two years.

After remaining steady at 3.5 hours for three consecutive months, factory overtime declined to 3.2 hours, with the drop concentrated in the durable goods sector. The average hourly earnings for all production and nonsunervisory workers on private payrolls rose two cents in January to $3.14, up 20 cents from a year ago. But because of what the department called the usual Janary drop in the work week, average weekly earnings fell by 81 cents to $116.81. Over the year, average weekly earnings increased by 6.56 or six per cent.
